Description:
Explore the world of deep-dish pizza in an unprecedented comprehensive way in the city that originated it. Lip Smacking Foodie Tours, the premier culinary tour company, has created a pizza connoisseur's dream excursion that takes guests to not one, not two, but three deep-dish flagships that put Chicago on the map with this iconic specialty. It affords the unheard-of experience of tasting each pizza nearly side by side to judge which reigns supreme. All are an easy stroll from one another in the must-see Magnificent Mile area.

Guests never have to deal with the usual long lines at these celebrated establishments. Instead, they receive immediate VIP seating to enjoy half-cheese, half-sausage loaded pies in only 10 minutes rather than the usual 45 minutes it takes to bake these hefty pizzas. Best yet, they can take leftovers with them. A vegetarian option is available upon request, too. An optional beverage package pairs a Chicago beer with the pizza at each venue.

- Gino's East on Superior Street: Taste for yourself why this graffiti-clad place is beloved by the likes of Lady Gaga, Chris Rock and Michelle Obama. The from-scratch dough is made without corn meal but with a "secret dough conditioner" that gives it impeccable taste and texture.
- Pizzeria Uno on Ohio Street: Established in 1943, it lays claim to being the inventor of deep-dish (though Lou Malnati's may beg to differ) that stands head and shoulders above the rest.
- Lou Malnati's on Wells Street: Where's the butter? In this extra flaky crust, of course. What's more, a special blend of lean sausage covers the entire circumference of the pie for deliciousness in every bite.
